

Beep...beep...beep...calling
all Grassroots Radio folk,
it's time to cross-pollinate!

GRASSROOTS RADIO CONFERENCE 11

July 27-30, 2006
Madison, WI

The GRC is an annual gathering of folks from grassroots, volunteer-powered, community radio stations to connect, learn new skills, discuss critical issues and do some partying. And you're invited!

Visit www.GrassrootsRadio.info today! From there, you can:

- Register for the conference
- Look for house-shares, ride-shares, hotels, etc.
- See the list of workshops
- Find out about WORT-FM and Madison, WI
- Figure out how to get to the conference
- Apply for Solidarity Funds
- ...and more!

GRC-11 will offer dozens of workshops and discussions addressing issues important to DJs, reporters, talk show hosts, program producers, news & music directors, program directors, managers, development staff, outreach & marketing staff and plain old grassroots radiophiles. Registration for GRC-11 is $80 per person. Some scholarships available through the Solidarity Fund.

Visit www.GrassrootsRadio.info for more information.

Call for Workshops

Planning is underway for the Grassroots Radio Conference. We'd love to have some workshops that highlight the great work of community radio volunteers. We need your input to create relevant and useful discussions.

- What should we be talking about at this conference?
- What issues are affecting community radio today?
- How can we further develop the community radio movement?

Let us know your ideas for workshops and panel discussion topics! Workshop proposals should be well thought out and should focus on topics that lend themselves to inclusiveness. While we will try to make room for as many workshops as possible, there is a limit to the number that we can accommodate.

Email your workshop ideas to Nathan Moore at newsfac@wort-fm.org.
